How Do Globally Engaged U.S. Companies Contribute to Economic Growth in Oklahoma?

Oklahoma's economy includes 565 companies that operate internationally, competing in global markets on a daily basis for inputs, capital, and customers. These globally engaged U.S. companies serve as a critical engine of economic growth for the state. For instance, they directly contributed $30.4 billion to Oklahoma's economy in 2011. In addition, these companies indirectly contribute to the state economy by purchasing raw materials, intermediate products, professional services, and other inputs from other local businesses. They also serve as a source of income for workers in local communities, paying on average $56,698 per job in wages, salaries, and fringe benefits in 2011. These payments boost consumer spending and drive additional economic activity throughout the state. Ultimately, all globally engaged U.S. companies directly and indirectly contributed $66.7 billion to Oklahoma's economy in 2011 — accounting for 49% of the state's private-sector gross domestic product.

How Do Globally Engaged U.S. Companies Contribute to Job Creation in Oklahoma?

*Jobs Supported by Globally Engaged U.S. Companies
Percent of Total, By Sector*

Globally engaged U.S. companies directly provided 260,600 jobs in Oklahoma in 2011, including 94,400 jobs in the trade and transportation sector, 85,900 jobs in the services sector, and 58,800 jobs in the manufacturing sector. These companies also indirectly support employment throughout local communities by purchasing goods and services from other local businesses in Oklahoma. In fact, such purchases supported an additional 215,800 jobs throughout the state in 2011, including 34,900 jobs in administrative services and 30,500 jobs in professional and scientific services. Finally, these globally engaged U.S. companies, as well as their suppliers, provide their workers with a source of income, which increased consumption spending and supported an additional 271,200 jobs in 2011, including 68,100 jobs in health care and social assistance and 44,800 jobs in retail trade.

In addition to providing their workers with a source of income in the form of wages and salaries, globally engaged U.S. companies provided $1.0 billion in dividend payments to Oklahoma residents in 2011. These payments serve as another source of income to local residents, thereby providing an additional boost to the state’s economy through the induced economic activity associated with increased consumer spending. In fact, these dividend payments supported an additional 3,900 jobs throughout Oklahoma in 2011.

In all, globally engaged U.S. companies directly and indirectly supported 751,500 jobs throughout Oklahoma in 2011 — accounting for 43% of Oklahoma’s private-sector employment.

How Can We Sustain and Expand the Contributions of Globally Engaged U.S. Companies?

U.S. companies operate in a highly competitive global marketplace. As cross-border trade and investment have increased, the field of competition has widened in many industries. In this environment, differences in national tax systems can be a significant factor in where companies choose to invest.

Unfortunately, the current U.S. corporate tax system has become an outlier relative to the tax systems of our trading partners. The United States maintains the highest statutory corporate tax rate among OECD countries. In addition, the United States still uses an antiquated system of worldwide taxation, which imposes a second round of taxes on foreign earnings for U.S. companies.

Reforming the U.S. corporate tax system by reducing corporate tax rates and revising international tax rules would make the United States a more attractive location for companies to invest and base their global headquarters, while also encouraging them to return their foreign earnings for investment throughout the United States, including Oklahoma. Ultimately, a more competitive U.S. corporate tax system is critical to sustaining and expanding the contributions that globally engaged U.S. companies make to Oklahoma’s economy, local communities, and working families.
